

Quick Guide to Finding Full Text Articles

Need Articles? Go to:

- 1) Library webpage > Databases – by Subject > Your academic major area (Nursing, Business, etc.)
- 2) Choose a database > Log in using your PC email login > Set delimiters to “Full Text” and “Scholarly” or “Peer-Reviewed” choices
- 3) Search for topic > Choose articles > [Choose delivery method if needed]

Don't see any full text available of your article(s)?

- 1) Highlight and right click (or Ctrl C) journal title from search result(s)
- 2) New tab > Library webpage > scroll to “Full Text Journal Finder” and click
- 3) Copy source title from search result > paste into Journal Finder search box
- 4) Click into any database displaying publication date range within year needed
- 5) Click into correct year, date, volume & issue > scroll down to article(s)

Still can't find article full- text option of your article(s)?

- 1) Email your citation information to pclibrary@presentation.edu
- 2) Also state the latest date by which you will accept emailed article(s); this date must be before research paper is due!

DEFINITION:

Citation= information given at the end of an abstract which lists author(s), title of the work, the source publication, the year, volume, issue, and page range

Example:

Jameson, James. The simplest things are hardest to find. The Simple Life. 2013: 13(1): 367-369.